

Title:	A coconut sap spread and its process of preparation
Abstract:	The present invention deals with the use of clarified coconut sap in place of cane sugar in the preparation of 'spread' by converting it into a free flowing product by concentration under vacuum while retaining its nutrients and processing with acidulant, gelling agent, colourant and flavouring such as spice oleoresin. A coconut sap spread is healthy value added product of Neera which is presently not available in the market.